

BPAC

To Whom It May Concern:

Andrea Leigh Sitler came to BPAC Airfreight the year of 1987. At that time my wife and I started BPAC. We purchased two cargo vans, my wife drove one and I drove the other.

Because of increase in business we needed another person. Andrea was hired as the third person. She came from the University of Berkshire; London and began with us when she returned home. From there on BPAC grew.

My wife ran the office and helped with the van work. Andrea was a very hard worker, very conscious and knowledgeable in this line of work.

As the company grew Andrea moved up the ladder and she was made General Manager. She ran the company completely.

She put computers into the company and hired and trained the personnel on operating computers. Andrea also helped out by driving our 18-wheelers, straight trucks and vans.

She was an all around person and damn good at it.

She worked six/seven day weeks and built us a very profitable company.

In December 2002, we decided to close the company, due to our health, and retire.
